Letter from the President

Join a Committee

Who does a lot of the work at the Temple? How does it get done? The answer is simple. Committees.

The Clergy and the staff work with our congregants to plan and execute the various programs, provide services and engage in systems that we have all come to expect and enjoy. And these people are all volunteers, just like you and me.

We have a Ritual Committee, under the leadership of Susan Goldberg and Tizzy Schechter. They work with the clergy to plan the High Holy Day services, arrange for people to participate and develop a schedule. They also assist with services all year, and plan special celebrations.

Our Membership Committee is under the leadership of Christina Akers-DiCenzo and Kerri Blabac. They welcome and engage with service attendees at young family services. They arrange for the Ambassador program at the High Holy Days.

We have a Music Committee under the leadership of Anna Marie Richmond and Rebecca Bernstein. They assist the Cantor in planning and arranging several musically based programs for the coming year, including the adult choir, the band and the Stained Glass concerts.

Ken Polk, our immediate Past President, heads the new Philanthropy & Development Committee. They have been very successful in finding donors for our Capital Construction Campaign, Life & Legacy and Cornerstone programs. They also work to help finance other programs.

Jeff Jolton is Chair of our Personnel Committee. They have been working to develop job descriptions, handle various personnel issues, and advise the staff and Board on these matters.

Our Museum Committee, led by Larry Rubin and Susan Adelman, reimagined our beautiful Cofeld Museum and are constantly working with staff to enhance the museum.

Larry also heads the Security Committee, an absolute necessity these days.

The Culinary Committee, now under the leadership of Debra Chernoff and Sharon Bonetto, has arranged with their members to cater our wonderful Purim dinners and numerous other dinners and events that we have all enjoyed.

Samantha White leads our Social Action Committee and has planned several events and programs to help the Buffalo community.

Barry Singer, our Treasurer leads the Financial Planning Committee, which monitors our assets, our budget and the financial practices of the Temple.

Sara Schultz is the Chair of the House Committee. This committee deals with policies for the buildings, works on the landscaping and gardens and environment.

We are always looking for more volunteers.

Below is list of all our committees and their Chairs. Please contact a chair to find out how you can help.

This is what makes our Temple work and function. Volunteer support.

We hope to hear from you soon.

Letter from the Rabbi

Voting with Our Feet

Many Jews of the Greatest Generation approached elections with one blunt question: "Is it good for the Jews?" Their question was expansive. They had learned that the welfare of the Jewish people depended on the character of the societies in which Jews lived. Democracy, religious liberty, concern for the vulnerable, a secure Israel, and resistance to antisemitism were never someone else's issues.

As we discussed throughout the High Holy Days, Israelis vote on October 27, and Americans on November 3. We may fill in different boxes, but I hope whatever box we decide to fill in we begin with serious Jewish questions: What strengthens democracy? What protects the Jewish people? What advances Israel's security and moral promise? What kind of future are we helping create?

We vote with our feet. When we enter a sanctuary, classroom, or family service, we declare that Jewish life deserves our presence. When we invest our time, attention, and resources here, we strengthen the community we hope will sustain our children and grandchildren.

October offers remarkable ways to cast that vote. At our Wednesday morning Israel Discussion Circle at the Broder Center, we will discuss the current event questions the Jewish world is asking. You can join me on Thursday Evenings starting on October 15 at the JCC as I offer the Hartman Institute's award winning new curriculum "Liberal Zionism: Between Crisis and Aspiration," exploring how love of Israel and moral seriousness can deepen one another. Our new season of Family Shabbat begins with Noah and "The Ark We Build Together," a fitting reminder that amid a flood, survival depends on what people build together. While on Sunday morning, October 25 at 10:30, filmmaker and new Buffalonian Harvey Stein will join us at Broder for J-LIVE. Through excerpts from his films, we will encounter Israeli solar innovation, African partnerships, peacemaking, and local environmental responsibility. It is precisely the kind of Jewish story for our moment: mutual support, collaboration, and tackling tricky problems rather than twiddling our thumbs.

By all means, study your ballot and vote. Then cast another vote: Show Up. Learn. Pray. Bring your children. Invite a friend. Jewish community does not simply happen around us. It grows when we choose it.

What Will 5787 Bring Us?

By the time you are reading this, we will have begun both a new school year and a new year on the Jewish calendar. We will have made it through the High Holy Days and, hopefully, found time to create lasting memories with family and friends. For many of us, this season has provided an opportunity to reflect on our actions, set new goals, and consider the doors we want to open in the year ahead. I suspect the weather will have turned cooler, and all things pumpkin and apple will be in abundance.

We are embarking on our second year of Religious School here at Temple Beth Zion and are blessed to have an exceptional teaching staff and clergy team to guide us. Together, we are committed to ensuring that our children receive a strong foundation in their Jewish education.

What's new this year, you ask? We are excited to launch our Madrichim program! We have a very enthusiastic group of eighth graders, along with several older students who have been with us since last year. These student leaders will assist in classrooms and help lead mitzvah projects throughout the year that all grade levels can participate in. We met in early September, and they shared many wonderful ideas. I look forward to working with them and watching them grow throughout the school year.

We have also created a Parent Manual, which everyone will receive on Opening Day, September 20, along with the school calendar. Both documents will also be distributed electronically for those who prefer a digital copy. Based on parent feedback, we are making a few adjustments to our parking procedures. To improve traffic flow, parking will not be permitted in the first row of the parking lot during drop-off and pick-up times. Our security officer will also be present to help direct traffic and ensure everyone's safety.

Our curriculum will remain the same this year, utilizing the Chai Curriculum and Aleph Champ for Hebrew instruction. However, there will be a few adjustments. The Grade 2-3 class will be using the third-grade Chai curriculum, while the Grade 4-5 class will be using the Chai fifth-grade curriculum.

We will continue to have an active Parent Committee, with Kerri Blabac and Nomi Weiss-Laxer serving as co-chairs this year. A schedule of Parent Committee meetings will be available on Opening Day. We deeply appreciate your feedback and the hard work the committee has done, and continues to do, in support of our Religious School community.

We look forward to another wonderful year of learning, growth, friendship, and Jewish connection. Thank you for being part of our Temple Beth Zion family.

Please bring clothing donations with you when you come to serve dinner.
